VOL. XLVII. UPLAND, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1941. NO. 64.

UPLAND STORES PLAN TO CARRY ON NORMALLY

Upland merchants are ready and willing to close at 5:30 p. m. daily at any time such a move may be deemed necessary and is so ordered by state or military authorities, but they generally express the opinion that any announcement to the effect that they are taking such action at this time is premature.

Local merchants attended a meeting yesterday in Ontario, at which Ontario, San Bernardino, Redlands and Riverside merchants agreed to the 5:30 closing. However, it as reported that no definite request or order for such action was presented by the military, so the action was entirely voluntary. Pomona merchants were represented at the meeting, but signified that stores there would remain open evenings during the holidays, as planned.

UP TO MERCHANTS

It is not expected that any official action will be taken by Upland merchants as a whole, and that the 5:30 p. m. closing will be entirely optional with stores here, it was said by local spokesmen. Some indicated that they will close, while others stated that they expected to remain open. However, local merchants made it clear that they were entirely ready to cooperate if the action was ordered officially as necessary in the best interests of defense.

PURSUE NORMAL COURSE

Several local merchants expressed the feeling that early closing might only serve to increase hysteria and apprehension, and felt that business should carry on in as nearly normal a course as possible in keeping with the best interests of defense and public morale. So far as is known now, most Upland stores will be open as usual Saturday evening.

Last night, all drug stores, restaurants, service stations, theatres and night spots in Ontario and Upland were open "as usual." Unless the practice of closing is universal or is made mandatory by public order and necessity, the best interests will be served by remaining open, was the summed up opinion of Upland business houses.

Christmas Program At Alta Loma School Friday Afternoon

The Christmas program of the Alta Loma school will be held in the school auditorium during the afternoon this Friday, December 19, it is announced by Principal Boyd Lehman. The program will be preceeded by the glee club appearing in a processional, appropriately robed and singing traditional Christmas music.

Bill Standlea Is Numbered Among Guam Defenders

Although possibility that the Island of Guam has been lost to Japanese forces is conceded by military authorities, its exact status, however, is not definitely known.

United States marines have made and are making gallant stands on several mid-Pacific islands, and one member of Uncle Sam's famed "Leathernecks" is Bill Standlea, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Standlea, 1192 East Ninth street, who is stationed on the Island of Guam.

What Can You Do For Defense? Register Immediately With C. of C.

Registration of human resources and skills and material facilities for defense work is now underway in Upland.

Responding to the request of San Bernardino County Defense Council made by its chairman, C. E. Grier, the Upland Junior Welfare League has undertaxen to perform this important work in the Upland district.

Meeting in special session Friday at the home of the president, Mrs. A. A. Aita, members of the League considered the Defense Council's request and enthusiastically accepted the responsibility.

WORK IS STARTED

Preparations were made to begin the work without delay and by 8 o'clock Saturday morning two members of the League were at their post in the chamber of commerce office, where they set up the defense resources registration office.

Throughout the day they filled out registration blanks, filed the information received, explained the work to inquirers and otherwise established the routine of this essential defense project.

This routine will be repeated day after day until every available person in the community is enrolled. Two members of the League will be in the office from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. every week day.

Purpose of the registration is to secure from each person data concerning their human resources and skills and their material racilities that may be of use in time of emergency or preparatory defense work.

Who can cook? drive a truck? sew? render proper first aid? nurse the sick and wounded? operate an ambulance? care for groups of children? do clerical work? or render any other service?

Go tell the women in the defense registration office.

More than 100 persons—more men than women—had registered by Monday night.

Mr. Grier, who is making every effort to rush this work to a quick and well coordinated completion, today urged that every person in the West End communities enroll and list their resources at once.

This is imperative.

Canine Blackout Declared Unless Tag Fees Paid Up

A license tag as a Christmas present for the family pooch, is the suggestion of Chief of Police E. C. Mehl, who serves notice this week that dog licenses must be cleaned up this month or it will mean a blackout for "Fido."

Blackout Warning

Private vehicles may not be operated during blackouts with or without various types of colored headlamp shields, which will not be permitted, was the definite order issued from Sacramento by defense officials, and made known here by Chief of Police E. C. Mehl and Capt. Frank L. Freeman of the California Highway Patrol.

Only vehicles which will be permitted to move on highways and streets during blackouts are those authorized for emergency.

Immediately upon the sounding of the blackout signal motorists should pull over to the side of the street or highway, park, cut out all lights and walk to some place of safety. Such conditions are required to be maintained for the duration of the blackout.

Emergency vehicles will be identified by authorized blackout lamps, and no other vehicle may be equipped or operated with blackout lamps or any type of masking material such as blue or green cellophane, pliofilm, or other material of a transparent nature, as private vehicles are forbidden to operate during blackouts.

—o—

Despite rumors to the contrary, public meetings may continue to carry on as usual, provided, of course, that proper precautions are taken to see that blackout requirements are observed, it is announced by Chief Mehl.

Meetings may continue during blackouts if the lights are turned out or if windows are properly covered. Attendants at any such meeting will remain in until the all clear is sounded, after which they may go home. People are required to remain off the street during blackouts.

—o—

Stores and places of business which are accustomed to leaving lights going at night, must turn these off or replace them with blue lights. For this purpose the police recommend a blue lamp of not more than 25 watts.

Such lights shall be placed well inside the store away from windows, and not more than one lamp should be lit in any single place of business.

CO. D INITIATES 24-HOUR DUTY AT HEADQUARTERS

A 24-hour watch has been instituted by Upland Company D of the California State Guard, with the opening Saturday of the company's headquarters office in the old Upland police station on Second avenue.

Reconditioning of the former police quarters began soon after the mustering in of Company D last Wednesday, under the direction of Eugene G. Nisbet. The headquarters office occupies the space just to the rear of the WPA work room, with an entrance on the alleyway. Immediately to the rear of the office is a double garage which will be used for storage of equipment and any mobile units.

RIFLES ORDERED

Next to the garage is the old jail, which is to be used as an arsenal for the storage of rifles and ammunition. Rifles have been requisitioned for the company and are expected to be in use soon, it is said by officials.

A phone has been installed in the company office and the day and night alert is maintained by details of two or three men changed at four hour intervals around the clock. A guardsman is always on duty to act in any emergency.

Ellery Wright served as the officer of the guard for the first 24-hour watch, with H. B. Anderson, E. R. Camfield, J. H. Pierce, R. L. Berg, M. S. Voth, R. D. Ryan and R. E. Pyle alternating the first shifts of duty. Norman S. Lawson was in charge of the second tour of duty from Sunday night to Monday night.

WELL ORGANIZED

The setup for Upland Company D is considered very effective, with outdoor and indoor drill grounds situated within a stone's throw of the company headquarters and arsenal. Local cooperation has been fine, the city providing the office and headquarters accommodations and grading the drill field, and Upland Lemon Growers association giving the use of drill facilities.

Ontario Turns Down Plan For Joint Sewage Disposal Project

GENEROSITY AND SPEED URGED IN RED CROSS DRIVE

This is the eighth day since the Red Cross call for emergency funds was made.

Upland chapter district was asked to contribute $5,500.

In those eight days the people of Upland district have given less than $400. The approximate amount of $375 was in the banks at noon today.

At this rate of giving Upland will require almost four months to give to the Red Cross the money that is needed now.

In the meantime Japanese bombs may have repeated Honolulu's disaster on points on this coast. German and Italian bombs may have taken their toll along the Atlantic coast.

Future possibilities have now become present actualities. Stark, hard facts must be faced.

Upland's immediate vicinity may be spared tragedy. If so, the people here must be prepared to give for others. If Upland is to suffer attack, with attendant death and destruction, it will be very comforting to know the Red Cross is standing by—with money to aid the victims.

Contributions are being left at the two banks. If the money is not brought in at a more rapid rate, a house to house canvass may be necessary.

The emergency fund committee named by Mrs. Mary A. Eckerman, Red Cross chapter chairman, will meet Friday evening to consider problems of the drive.

COURT SUIT IS POSSIBILITY AS CITIES DISAGREE

A drama "How to Maintain Friendly Relations With Your Neighboring City" had a final scene last night when the Ontario city council voted to reject a previously-agreed upon proposal for joint Upland-Ontario operation of the sewage disposal plant.

The vote was 4 to 1, Ontario's mayor George P. Weldon favoring acceptance of the proposition.

At one time during the months of checker game type of negotiations on the sewage disposal problem committees of the two city councils agreed to accept a proposal that might be developed by the city managers, Richard G. Manley, Upland, and Neil D. Smith, Ontario.

PROBLEM STUDIED

The city managers studied the disposal problem and the possibility of a joint operation of the Ontario plant. The Upland city council recently accepted the city managers' proposal. The Ontario council rejected the proposal—at least two of the officials voting last night against their previously approved plan of settlement.

Thus two neighboring communities with common interests and common goals failed to see eye to eye in the matter of a joint sewage disposal system and today court action is a possibility of settlement.

Early last summer a breach appeared in the negotiations that had been going on for at least three years. On Aug. 19, however, committees of the two councils conferred and mutually agreed to let the city managers consider all phases of the problem and work out a plan of joint operation. It was understood then by the councilmen that the city managers' proposal would be adopted, according to a declaration today by City Manager Manley.

$55,603 FROM UPLAND

Under terms of the proposed settlement Upland was required to immediately advance $55,603 for construction of an addition to the Ontario sewage disposal system. During succeeding years Ontario was to credit Upland for a portion of this advance, making Upland's net cost $39,441.

Each city was to pay for its proportionate cost of operation.

On Nov. 5, a contract expired. This contract, originally sought by Ontario, required that Upland dispose of its sewage through the Ontario system. At that time Ontario wanted the water for use on a city farm. The contract had an option, whereby Upland could renew the proposal for another 24 years.

Ontario has questioned the legality of the option and a court suit may be started to determine if the option is valid.

Last night's action by the Ontario council came after the reading of a letter from the Upland council. The Upland letter contained the terms of the proposal as prepared by the Ontario and Upland city managers.

Following are excerpts of the Upland letter;

UPLAND SEEKS FAIRNESS

"The city council of the City of Upland realizes that conditions at the sewer farm have changed since the sewer contract was signed by both cities in 1917, and although we feel that this contract is still perfectly legal, we want to be fair to Ontario. We do not want to place upon the citizens of Ontario the burden of taking care of Upland's sewage. Because of these changed conditions Upland is willing to share in the expense and pay its proportionate share. Nothing, however, is to be taken in this letter to waive any rights the city of Upland has under the contract made by the city of Ontario and the city of Upland in 1917.

"In order to show our sincerity

There's A War to Wage and Civilian Life to Maintain

The readjustment period has come.

That is, the first terrific shock of the major disaster in Honolulu 10 days ago, has gone. Today everyone in this community and throughout California is readjusting his every-day activities to the new mode of living in a potential battle area. A "state of emergency" exists in California and every loyal citizen accepts this condition calmly and with a wholehearted determination to do his part.

What's ahead? More blackouts, perhaps bombs on California—and surely a horrible slaughter of young men in the battle of the Pacific. That's war—and we are in it.

But here at home, schools must function about as always. The municipal services must be maintained. People will buy food, clothing and all the other necessities of a modern age. In other words, life geared to the emergency condition, will be more or less normal. Public officials—as well as individuals—must be prepared to assume greater responsibilities than ever before.

Next year is an important election year in the city, county and state.

Selection of men and women to handle the tremendous task of civilian needs as well as home defense activity is a gigantic task for every voter. Next year's election will be doubly important—and should not be lost sight of in the maize of war activity.

The civilian problems will be greater than ever. Our job at home is to remain calm, cheerful, optimistic and ever alert to the every-day problems of civilian life in a war-geared nation.

Christmas Program Is Enjoyed by Friday Afternoon Club

Christmas observance in the Americas not only was interestingly discussed, but also was delightfully demonstrated at the meeting held by the Friday Afternoon club at the home of Mrs. Welles T. Ross, 715 North Euclid avenue, Ontario.

With Mrs. Milton M. Chapman, president presiding, a brief business session was held, and the program was presented by Mrs. W. A. Mackay.

Speaking on the topic, "Christmas in the Americas," Mrs. Mackay discussed briefly the traditional observances in Canada, the United States, and Central and South America, with special attention being given to Mexico.

By way of demonstrating the spontaneous gaiety and joy expressed by the Mexicans in their colorful Christmas festivities, Mrs. Mackay presented the well known local entertainers Ponce Espino and Carlos Tarin, who were assisted by Pauline Sanchez.

The trio, playing their own guitar accompaniments, appeared in several folk dance numbers and sang the Christmas songs favored by the Mexicans.

Ponce Espino explained their numbers, saying that the music of Mexico is unique in that it is a combination of Spanish music and of the native music of Mexico—plaintive, symbolic music handed down through the centures from the Aztecs. In their Christmas music, he said, the Mexicans have included themes from Christian music and use it in expressive ways in their religious festivals.

The sparkling personalities of the young Mexicans and their vivacious interpretations of their native music and dances proved an enjoyable feature of the program.

A social hour followed the program and Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. A. R. Gemmel presided at the tea table, which was graced with a charming arrangement of red candles and red and blue balls.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Milton L. Chapman, Mrs. C. W. Randall, Mrs. A. L. Weber, Mrs. W. A. Mackay, Mrs. Bryce Denton, Mrs. H. W. Fredericksen, Mrs. F. E. Chaffee, Mrs. Hugh H. Ball, and Mrs. Ross, the hostess; also two guests, Mrs. Beardsley Ricard and Mrs. Mary Janney.

Defense Dance Is To Be Held, League Announces

With all proceeds scheduled to go to defense work, the Christmas dance planned weeks ago by the Upland Junior Welfare League will not be postponed, it was decided by the League members in special session Friday.

The dance is to be designated as a defense event and all arrangements will be kept as simple as possible in order that the net proceeds may be larger. However, the dance will be made a delightful affair.

The dinner dance will be held Saturday night at Red Hill Country club. Dinner will be served from 8:30 to 9:30, with dancing following.

Mrs. Beecher F. Hungerford is general chairman for the dance and tickets are being sold by Mrs. Douglas Sage and Miss Clara Lou Nisbet.

Tickets still are available and anyone desiring to attend and to aid in the defense project may secure reservations by calling either Mrs. Sage or Miss Nisbet.

All League members who have sold tickets are to go at once to Mrs. Sage's home and pick them up for immediate delivery.

A CAPPELLA GIVES ROTARY PROGRAM

A treat looked forward to each holiday season by Upland Rotarians is the Christmas program presented by S. Earle Blakeslee and the Chaffey a cappella choir. Today noon this fine organization rendered the same outstanding program they presented about three weeks ago over the Mutual Don Lee network on a nation-wide hookup as the opening gun for the sale of tuberculosis seals throughout the nation.

Mr. Blakeslee directed the choir and Mrs. Blakeslee read the narrative. The enthusiastic applause by Rotarians at the close of the program evidenced their hearty appreciation.

Neighbors Meet for Christmas Party

For the third successive year, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clewett of West Arrow highway invited their College Heights neighbors to their home on a recent evening for a community Christmas party.

A brightly lighted Christmas tree proclaimed the nature of the party, while red berries and greenery were used throughout the house.

With the possibility of an air raid in mind, Mr. and Mrs. Clewett had prepared their windows for a blackout.

The group of neighbors and other friends, about 30 in number, spent the evening visiting and singing Christmas carols, Mrs. J. E. Cuthbertson accompanying at the piano.

During the evening Mrs. Clewett served refreshments.

Churches Should Be Open Sunday Nights, Uplander Believes

Churches should not discontinue their Sunday night services now in the opinion of A. P. Moreman, Euclid Place.

"This community is small, far removed from the actual war danger and I believe that some arrangements could be made to permit the holding of the usual religious services," continued the long-time Upland resident. He said a radio sermon by a Presbyterian minister in Los Angeles impressed upon him the importance of keeping the churches open.

"Keeping open the churches would in no way interfere with the government's civilian defense efforts and I believe the churches should immediately resume their usual evening services," Mr. Moreman said.

Fire Lookout Now Blackout Signal Tower

Etiwanda has a blackout signal tower. The siren which will sound blackout signals for the Foothill community will be installed on what was formerly the lookout tower for the Alta Loma forestry fire station on Highland.

The tower was moved this week from the forestry station to its new location which is midway between Highland and Victoria avenues on Etiwanda avenue.

Three long blasts are the signal for blackout in Etiwanda, with one long blast indicating the all clear.

The Christian Science church in Ontario that serves the West End communities has changed the time of the regular Wednesday testimony meeting from 8 p. m. to the noon hour. In the future the meeting each Wednesday will begin at 12:10 and continue to 1:00 p. m.

ANNUAL COUNCIL DINNER ON JAN. 12

Annual Girl Scout dinner, at which time new officers and members of the council will be introduced, is to be held as scheduled on Monday evening, January 12. There has been no change in the date.

The dinner will be open to the public. Reports of activities will be distributed in pamphlet form, and a highly significant program is planned for presentation.

In a special ceremony, the Daughters of Union Veterans will present American flags to two troops in the council.

BOARD DECLARES EMERGENCY EXISTS

Existence of a state of emergency was declared by the county board of supervisors at its meeting yesterday in San Bernardino, and in line with this authorized Sheriff Emmet L. Shay to add eight full-time deputies to his staff.

Forecasting the establishment of blackout regulations in the incorporated areas of San Bernardino county, an ordinance was under consideration yesterday by the board of supervisors.

The proposed ordinance makes failure to comply with blackout warnings a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum fine of $500 or six months in the county jail or both. Strict enforcement of the new ordinance would be forthcoming, it was said by Sheriff Emmett L. Shay.

However, enactment of the ordinance was held up pending arrival of a blanket form for a uniform ordinance, now understood to be en route from the ofice of Attorney General Earl W. Warren.

"Real work now begins in earnest," Mr. Rash said, "and regular attendance is necessary in order to bring the company up to an effective standard of proficiency and preparedness for any eventuality. MARKETS WILL AID AMERICAN LEGION BASKET WORK

American Legion Christmas dinners for needy families, are now being gathered in the familiar red and green boxes which have been placed in all Upland food stores, and shoppers are urged to make liberal contributions.

In view of the stress of conditions this year, the work of gathering materials and making up baskets is being reorganized so as to work as little hardship as possible upon those who will assist, and upon whom so many calls for service are being made these days, it is announced by Hjalmar Anderson, who is in charge of the work.

Since no headquarters is available for the work on Second avenue, it has been decided to set up tables in the storeroom of the Anderson store at Ninth street and First avenue, where all supplies will be received, with Mrs. Hjalmar Anderson in charge. Money contributions, which also are very necessary for the success of the project, will be received by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson at the store.

COMBINED EFFORTS

Walker's market has offered the Legion its cooperation in the Christmas basket work, through the office of Clarence R. Gray, manager of the market. Last year, Walkers put up a number of baskets for distribution only to find that some of them duplicated those given out by the Legion. In order to avoid this, and to make the work more effective Mr. Gray suggested the cooperative arrangement.

In order to release Legionaires and others to serve in many branches of defense work, the employees of Anderson's market and Walker's market will take charge of putting up the baskets this year, and deliveries will be handled by the markets' trucks. The new arrangement, it is expected will prove an efficient distribution of Christmas cheer to homes where it is most needed.

The American Legion, as a result, reports that they have the situation well in hand, and that there will be no letup in the drive along the Christmas front until good cheer is delivered to as many homes as possible.

ONTARIO TURNS DOWN SEWER PLAN

and fairness toward the city of Ontario, we will stand by the agreement we made with your committee on August 19, 1941. So that there can be no misunderstanding as to what was meant in that agreement we repeat it here as follows:

"On and after November 5, 1941, Ontario and Upland are to operate the sewage disposal plant and sewer farm jointly and to share proportionately in all expense and revenues. The per cent to be shared by each to be based on the average yearly flow of sewage delivered by each city and measured through a meter installed at the south city limits of the city of Upland and another at the sewage disposal plant.

The city of Upland agrees to enlarge the present disposal plant and to pay all construction costs with the understanding that the city of Ontario will reimburse Upland for Ontario's share of these costs by crediting Upland each year with its share of the operating costs as determined below.

"Interest on investments made by either city is to be considered as offsetting each other.

"Each city's interest in the sewage plant is to be based on the flow of sewage to the plant and adjusted on a year to year basis.

"However, in order to arrive at an approximate value of the plant at the present time, and each city's share in the cost, we have taken the figures given by Engineer Curry in his report as a basis for the percentage, namely 72 per cent for Ontario and 28 per cent for Upland.

"For convenience in operating, both the sewage disposal plant and the sewer farm shall be under the supervision of the city manager of the city of Ontario, provided however, that Upland shall have a voice in all matters pertaining to policies in connection therewith and in capital improvements."

Kelley Seay, popular Upland heavyweight who has been one of Southern California's outstanding amateur boxers for the past two years, will make what probably will be his last appearance at Ontario Legion stadium in many moons tonight when he fights Marcus Shaw, Monrovia, in a rematch.

Following Tuesday's scrap, Seay will be inducted into the army, and as every valley boxing fan knows, Uncle Sam is getting a courageous, fine soldier and lots of fighting man.
